

... while more and more educators are embracing [Paulo] Freire, many of them, including some liberals and progressives, allow their critical discourse to be betrayed...

... by the lack of coherence between their denouncement of oppressive conditions and their accommodation to dominant structures...

that created these oppressive structures in the first place...